

Radionics

I start with the conclusion:

Every person can practice radionics. Independently from his or her own state of knowledge. Who has spiritual experience knows that he therefore has no need of aids. But people need things to hold onto, they can touch. Radionics is practicable with an Isis-pendulum as well as with a pencil or pure thought. Radionic instruments – PC-based software – are such transmitters. Maybe a risky statement of a leading producer of radionic software. Our system takes over these works for the “normal person” and can therefore be used as a practical working instrument.

In radionics, oscillative therapy is unified with affirmations resp. auto-suggestions. Nearly every radionics-user knows “The Secret”. Question is why radionics is used as an instrument. In my view, I use it because I can deliver any resources to the system and do not need to “tap” my own’s. Besides, I can manually only find out what I know myself. By the elaborated analysis-system – at least with our software – there can also be found things, that the therapist does not know himself, but that are concise as cause for the patient’s discomforts.

As a healer, I can only exercise a limited amount of energetic analyses and treatments. Own impulses, the own logic must hereby be switched off. Also, it requires a lot of knowledge. With radionics, one can concentrate on the essential. The radionics takes over work for one, does not waste unnecessary resources and is usable independently of the therapist’s mental state.

In my conviction, any person could live in line with their own wishes. If one learns to trust himself, has a home in himself and can free his thoughts.

General:

I will go into detail on every critical concerns, also explain things that even I have to “put up with”, and for that I sometimes do not have an explanatory model. But also go into detail on the great successes and the precious possibility of support.

If you know the energetic laws, you are aware of the fact that radionics works and familiar to the explanatory models. To all others, these models may seem as a blandish or shaping in a way it fits. I am aware if that, because as a computer scientist, I see it the same way. But as an experienced energetic healer I have also learnt the other side of the non-tangible. I think the difficulty also lies in the purpose of interpreting things the way a rounded and coherent picture results, with that the patients get a common theme and an explanatory model. Still today I have a critical look on every result and every development is proofed precisely. I have created an equipment with that other therapists is given a wonderful tool to help their patients with. There will from time to time be questions or obscurities. But that is what I am here for and I will help at any time. There are parts that I do know only up to a certain degree (e.g. geopathy). Everything that goes beyond that I will refer to a colleague who is used better to this matter. So there are very well other producers with whom we are working finely together. Every producer is aware of the universe's laws. Not everyone is using them, even though he may occupy them for himself. Partly I refer in my remarks to other systems, without naming. By us, every prospect will know all names of other producers to get an idea of all systems. For the general good is the sentence, that (nearly) all radionic healers or radionic producers keep to.

About my person:

By combining my professions (software developer, natural healer and student of psychology), the whole knowledge from all sectors could influence the system. It seems important to me, that I know what I am talking about in the sector of medicine / energetic/ psyche, as well as in software realization and new ideas can be evaluated technically and medicinally/energetically. Computer science remains of 0 and 1 – electricity off or electricity on. With 0,5, a PC does not run.

After many educations and own energetic work / further development, I wanted to try, if the computer as a tool could take a part of the energetic work over for me. But at the same time, I also had the demand that this work should be applicable by users without medical/energetic knowledge, too. My first project in this sector was the tuning-in of information from the field of Bach flowers. It worked. Only hereby I came to the clue, that this must be radionics. I am also of the opinion that the way "radionics - this makes money, I also do it" is not possible. Even though some systems might be created with this background. The further procedure then was the development of an analysis-functionality and the construction of data bases for the system.

My combination of the different professions is blessing and curse at the same time. For any information, I evaluate in my mind if and how it may be implemented. I have ideas to which others will not get in years. And I translate my impulses always very quickly. Only somebody who is familiar to both parts can do the splits between computer science and energetic. With no question, there are also other, very good systems on the market, but the last mentioned topic is their problem. It is too bad if then a system is created that does practically nothing and only relies on the psychological effects. On the other hand: Who heals is justified.

Resonance

In radionics, we speak of resonances. An analysis result "fracture" therefore can have many meanings:

actual fracture, past fracture, tendency to fractures, karma burden

Actual fracture is clear – an acute bone fracture.

With a past fracture, disorder with wound healing, bone healing up or formation of scar tissue might have appeared.

Tendency to fractures e.g. by osteoporosis, caused by calcium deficiency.

Karma burdens – in the former life by accident, torture or other things that cause fracture(s).

Radionics always works with the principle of resonance. According to this, also our analysis is constructed. The patients' entries are transformed into resonance patterns and set into resonance with the transformed resonance patterns of the analysis entries. Is the resonance positive, then a matching was found.

If you like to retest the results with a pendulum or a tensor, then do not ask, "Do I have osteoporosis", but, "Do I go into resonance with osteoporosis". Only this way, you can achieve an applicable verification.

Location of cause – location of discomfort

Data base

$$\sum (U + S + P) \neq B$$

Analysis

Radionics searches for the cause. If a hand is broken, I do not need a bone fracture as a result. I know that and besides, I cannot change it. But if as a result I get entries like 'callus formation, calcium, periosteum', I have starting points for a treatment.

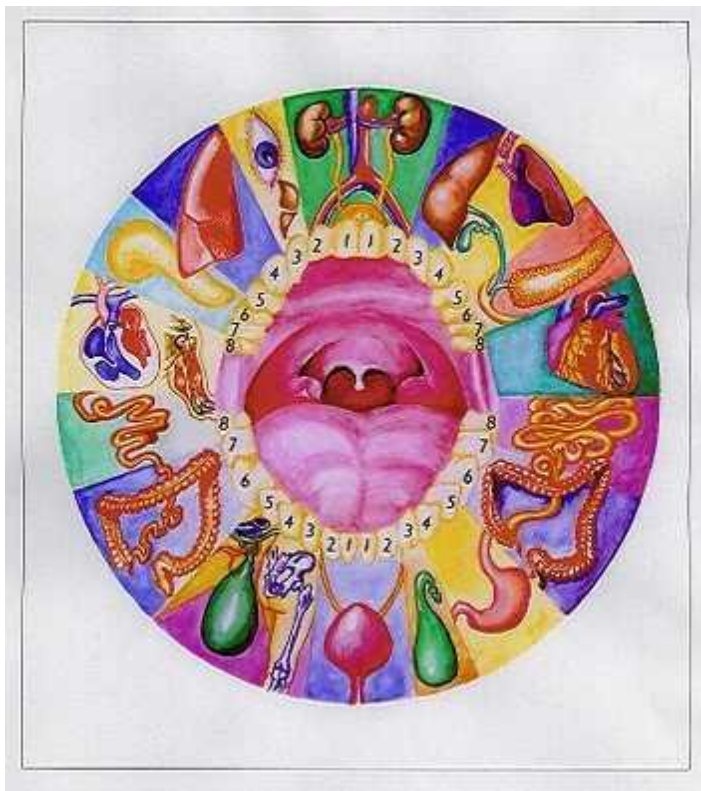

Displaced thoracic vertebrae can cause symptoms of a heart attack. It cannot be differed from the clinical picture. Standard treatments are ECG, blood check (troponin T, creatinikinesis (CK-MB)) and further ones. Location of cause = thoracic vertebrae, location of discomfort = heart.

Knee aching can be caused by a static unbalance of the spine. Location of cause = pelvic obliquity, location of discomfort = knee.

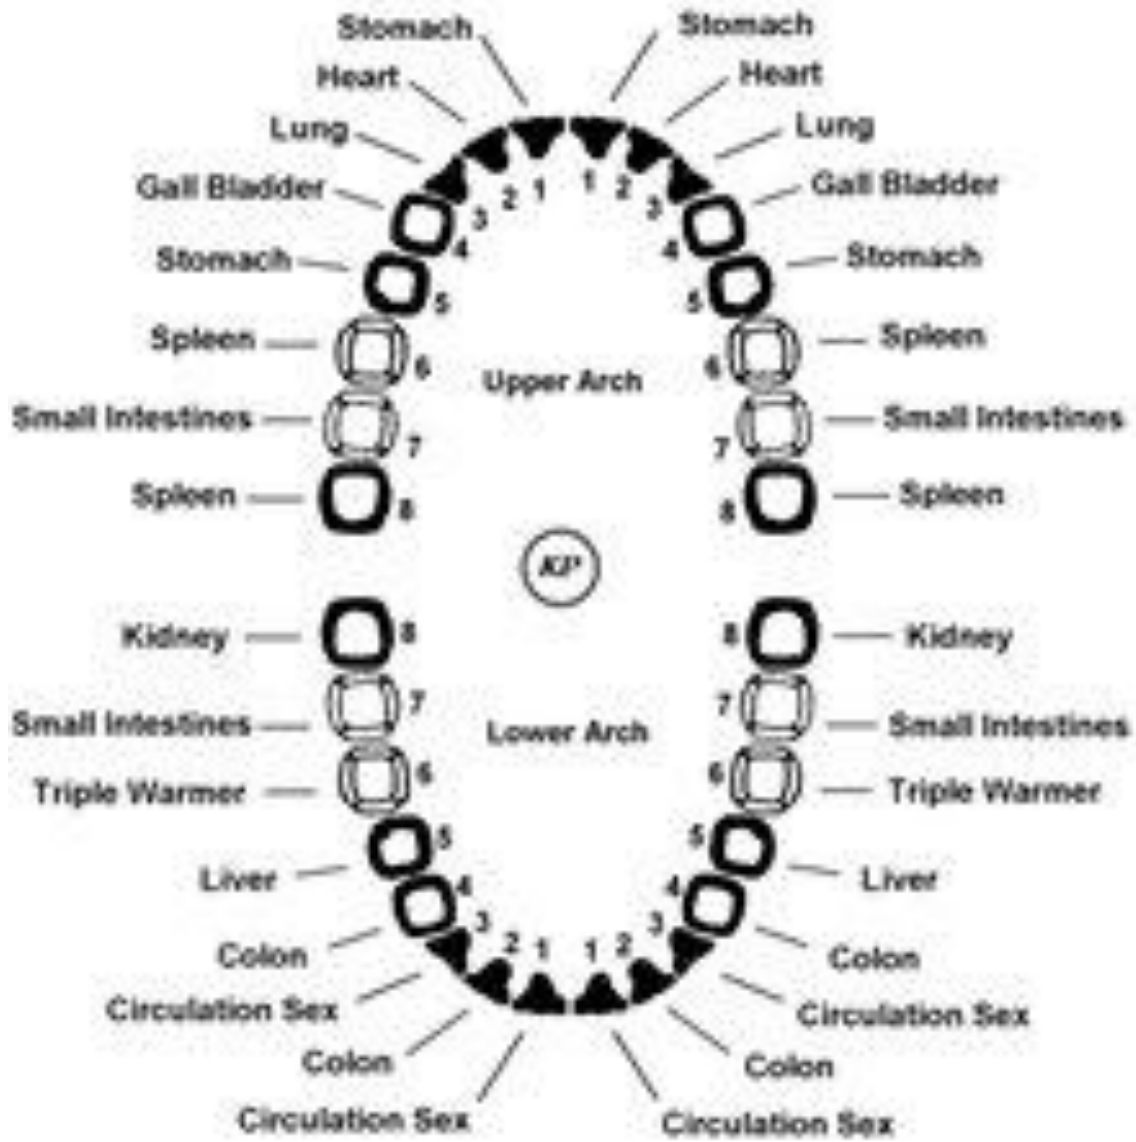

So radionics helps us also to advance into topics that we otherwise might not perceive with our conscience. This can be on somatic level (Helicobacter pylori as cause for stomach disorder), but also on vegetative level. So with radionics often conflicts or traumas become recognizable that are causally located in the psychic field.

Suppressed fears, long forgotten experiences from the childhood or also karma burdens are hereby shown to us. It cannot always be conclusively assigned to the somatic discomforts, but some radionic healers work with different levels. So does our system. However, I understand these levels "just" as mere source of information that emphasizes to us, on which level the analyzed entry is located resp. to which it has already advanced. So if I have the entry 'Vegetative dystonia' on level 1 – the physical -, I can conclude that the psychic discomforts have already manifested physically. Or the entry 'I cannot be alone'. Then the fear of being alone has already left physical marks. You have to internalize this principle to work successfully with radionics. For you will continually run into entries you will not be able to bring in line with your state of knowledge. Therapists with experience in TCM partly have it easier. If you have stomach disorders e.g., a point at the stomach meridian is stung that is located laterally below the patella. Also energy pathways are stung that do not lie on the stomach meridian.

You certainly know that there are relations between teeth and somatic disorders.

Ill. 1: Energetic relations between single teeth and organs

Ill.2: Schematic representation of dental energetic relations

THE TEETH AND THE BODY
ENERGETIC INTER-RELATIONS
RIGHT SIDE								LEFT SIDE
JOINTS	Shoulder Elbow Sacro-iliac		Jaw Hip Anterior knee		Shoulder Elbow Hand Foot Big toe		Posterior knee		Posterior knee		Shoulder Elbow Hand Foot Big toe		Jaw Hip Anterior knee		Shoulder Elbow Sacro-iliac
	Hand Foot Toes						Hip Sacro- coccygeal Joint		Sacro- coccygeal Joint Hip		Hand Foot Big toe				Hand Foot Toes
							Ankle joint		Ankle joint
ORGANS	Ear		Tongue		Nose		Eye Nose		Nose Eye		Nose		Tongue		Ear
	Heart		Pancreas		Lung		Liver Kidney		Kidney Liver		Lung		Spleen		Heart
	Small intestine		Stomach Mammary gland		Large intestine		Gall bladder Rectum Genito-urinary Prostate		Rectum Genito-urinary Prostate Gall bladder		Large intestine		Stomach Mammary gland		Small intestine
	Pituitary gland Ant. lobe		Para- Thyroid		Thyroid		Thymus Pituitary gland Post. lobe		Pineal gland		Pineal gland		Pituitary gland Post. lobe		Thymus Thyroid		Para- Thyroid
TEETH	RIGHT																LEFT
			1		2		3		4		5		6		7
			32		31		30		29		28		27		26		25
TEETH	RIGHT																LEFT
			8		9		10		11		12		13		14
			24		23		22		21		20		19		18		17
ORGANS	Small intestine		Large intestine Ileo-cecal area		Stomach Mammary gland		Gall bladder Adrenal gland Rectum Genito-urinary Prostate		Adrenal gland Rectum Genito-urinary Prostate Gall bladder		Stomach Mammary gland		Large intestine		Small intestine
	Heart		Lung		Pancreas		Liver Kidney		Kidney Liver		Spleen		Lung		Heart
	Ear		Nose		Tongue		Eye Nose		Nose Eye		Tongue		Nose		Ear
JOINTS	Shoulder Elbow Sacro-iliac		Shoulder Elbow Hand Foot Big toe		Jaw Hip Anterior knee		Posterior knee		Posterior knee		Jaw Hip Anterior knee		Shoulder Elbow Hand Foot Big toe		Shoulder Elbow Sacro-iliac
	Hand Foot Toes						Hip Sacro- coccygeal Joint		Sacro- coccygeal Joint Hip		Hand Foot Big toe				Hand Foot Toes
							Ankle joint		Ankle joint
RIGHT SIDE								LEFT SIDE

III.3: Energetic interrelations between teeth and body in tabular form

The Dorn method shows impressively how spine and organs as well as psyche are connected.

The Dorn Method

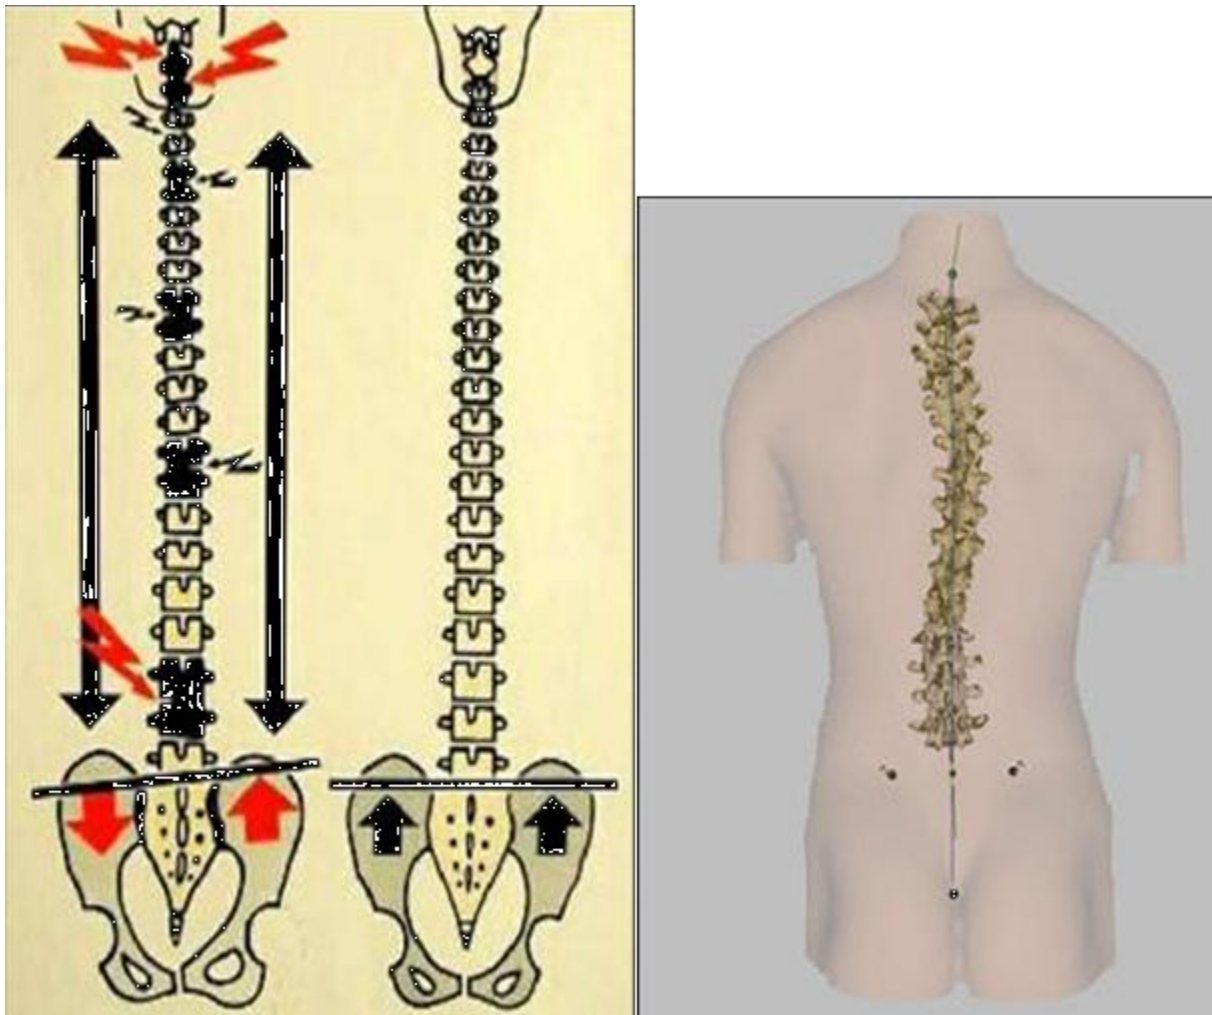

Connection between Spinal Misalignments and Possible Physical / Emotional Problems

Possible Emotional Problems		Possible Physical Problems
Atlas		C1	C1 - Headaches, migraines, high blood pressure, dizziness, paralysis due to irregular circulation in brain, chronic tiredness
Axis		C2	C2 - Sinus problems, eye trouble, ear pain, deafness
		C3	C3 - Neuralgia, Pain in facial nerves, spots, acne, tinnitus, toothache, bad teeth, plaque, bleeding gums
		C4	C4 - Constant colds, loss of hearing, chapped lips, adenoids, catarrh
		C5	C5 - Laryngitis, hoarseness, sore throat, colds
		C6	C6 - Tonsillitis, stiff neck, upper arm pain, whooping cough, croup, goiter
		C7	C7 - Diseases of the thyroid gland, colds, bursitis in the shoulder or elbow, depression, fear
		TH1	TH1 - Shoulder pain, neck cramp, lower arm/hand pain, ligament inflammation, furry feeling in fingers
		TH2	TH2 - Heart trouble, disruption in rhythm, fear, chest pains
		TH3	TH3 - Bronchitis, influenza, pneumonia, pleurisy, coughing, breathing difficulties, asthma
		TH4	TH4 - Gallbladder problems, gall stones, jaundice, one sided headaches (from gallbladder meridian)
		TH5	TH5 - Liver disruption, low blood pressure, anemia, fatigue, shingles, circulatory weakness, arthritis
		TH6	TH6 - Stomach and digestive problems, heartburn, diabetes
		TH7	TH7 - Duodenal ulcers, stomach complaints, hiccups, possible vitamin deficiency, feeling weak
		TH8	TH8 - Spleen problems, weak immune system
		TH9	TH9 - Allergies, nettle rash
		TH10	TH10 - Kidney problems, salt can not escape, chalked-up arteries, chronic tiredness
		TH11	TH11 - Skin disease incl. acne, spots, eczema, boils, raw skin, psoriasis
		L1	L1 - Problems with small intestine, wind, rheumatism, disruption in growth, infertility, erectile dysfunction
		L2	L2 - Problems with large intestine, disruption in circulation within intestine, constipation, diarrhea
		L3	L3 - Appendix problems, stomach cramp, hyper acidity, varicose veins
		L4	L4 - Pregnancy problems, menstruation pain, menopause problems, bladder pain, knee aches - often together with the bladder, impotence, bed-wetting
		L5	L5 - Sciatica, lumbago, prostate trouble, painful or too frequent urination
			L5 - Circulation problems in leg and feet, cold feet, cramps in the calves, swelling of feet and legs
			Sacrum - Sciatica, abdominal problems, chronic constipation, pain in legs and feet
			Coccyx - Hemorrhoids, itching of the anus, pain on sitting

Atlas
Axis
Cervical
Thoracic
Lumbar
Sacrum
Coccyx

Copyright 2009 Dorn Method Centre www.dornmethod.co.uk

III.4: Vertebral Relations to psyche and physis in Dorn method

Ill.5 and 6: Mobilization and treatment in Dorn method.

Location of cause – Location of discomfort resp. Cause analysis is the central starting point of radionics.

Reproducibility

Can radionics be defined as science? Definition of science (Wikipedia.org, 2011): "Science [...] is a systematic enterprise that builds and organizes knowledge in the form of testable explanations and predictions about the world". That means, information sources are disclosed, experiments are described in a way they can be reproduced. If you read scientific work, you can always recognize on which basing facts and proves the author has come to his conclusions and which other scientists he refers to.

Let us come immediately to an essential crucial question that continually appears – the reproducibility in radionics. It does not exist. If a system offers those, it was knowingly programmed this way. I cannot understand why. Either to evade discussion, to look for competitive advantage (as a producer, one should not work against each other) or simply to keep the user at the fundamental. I will come back to it after the next paragraph.

Ever second, millions of processes take place on the vegetative, neuronal, physical and chemical level. In every cell. A short smell impulse after an analysis already causes a reaction in the body, whereby also an analysis changes. If you work with cards and you draw a card that does not "please" you – draw a new one. It will not be the same. Is thereby the statement of the first card invalid? You can interpret it the one or the other way. According to my former remarks, you could say yes. However, it should not be left unconsidered that we tend to suppression.

Of course, I have also considered how to handle the reproducibility, though the reflection took only few seconds, for a cheating is not eligible. If the reproducibility is the decisive factor for somebody not to purchase a system, it is ok, too. Clearly, on the first contact with radionics one also tests what happens if he exercises an analysis again. When the users feel that radionics are working, they keep to the rule: The first analysis counts. You then simply have to deal with the results. And with further results you will often recognize, that the results are always about the same topics. Every new analysis goes one level deeper. Whereby the first results do not lose their emphasis resp. meaning.

As explained, I ask the question why testing should be repeated. It is often that we cannot interpret or believe the first results. So we test another time. These results "please" us more, so we take them. It is not the right way. We have to deal with the first results. Or accept them and look in the further process if conclusions can be drawn resp. the same topic appears repeatedly. Trust is the keyword in here. Additional, of high importance is the topic 'Location of cause – location of discomfort'.

Consciousness

Being conscious about something. If we concentrate consciously on a thing, we can direct things the way that special happenings will occur. We seem to attract them magically. Our morphogenetic field is conditioned to it. "Watch your thoughts; they are the beginning of your deeds". This sentence can also be transformed positively. For what we think, we attract. By radionics, the handlers and the patient hand it over to the system and hereby to the morphogenetic field. An example from everyday life with and without radionics: It was yet several times that female patients came to me and in the course of the conversation it turned out, that the wish for a new relationship was very big. "Ok, bake your future man", is then my statement on it. The ones that are not able to bake should do it with modeling material. During the modeling think of all qualities of the new partner, all activities that you wish to experience together, simply of all the good that ought to be lived. No thoughts of things that were bad in other relationships. So classically positive thinking. When it is done, off it goes in the oven. After half a year at the latest the new partner is there. Works always ☺ Exactly this way I do it in radionics. All these attributes are written down and entered into the system. Mostly I create a stone for this purpose that the patients can carry with them. What happens now? To anticipate it for critics – it is an explanatory model that is founded on psychology and not on radionics as such. The radionics is “simply” our instrument for this. By transferring “responsibility” and thoughts (I do not need to torture myself with the thoughts anymore, the lie baked at home) we have broadly diversified our focus again. We did not recognize the left and the right next to us before, but now our focus enlarges. Besides, the person’s subconscious knows that something positive will happen. According to this we behave more openly and facingly towards our surroundings. The empathetic competence is pronouncing. Persons make more openly towards others. In addition, the subconscious watches increasingly the other gender for it is now conditioned to meet the new partner and you do not want to miss that. The aura becomes more open. If thoughts like “I’m left on the shelf”, “nobody wants me”, “I always do pick’em” etc. shape the thought pattern, it will become true. Everybody knows the aura coat or aura ring that surrounds us – some persons we can let come close to us, to others we hold a large (safety) distance. This aura ring is used by the subconscious also as a protection shield. Others that would possibly like to approach us are hereby kept from doing it.

Morphogenetic field

The morphogenetic field – the human bioenergy field – surrounds us all. Not only human but every matter has its morphogenetic field. Also a table – imagine that children in a developing country are sent into the woods to cut trees. The children have no fun doing it and consequently the table cannot send ‘good energy’ either. The morphogenetic field of the wood works negatively on us. We feel uncomfortable with this place.

So the morphogenetic field surrounds any matter. Aura surrounds us, too, but it can be defined by the way that aura consists of different layers which can again be divided into classifications. The morphogenetic field is a holistic field if you like to label it this way. This field can be information carrier, but also energy carrier. With radionics we tune in the morphogenetic field. It serves as energy carrier for us and transmitter of the tuned-in information for human, animal, plant, car etc.

Affirmations / Autosuggestion

With the help of affirmations, we can achieve a lot. Affirmations are positively formulated statements of faith. When I analyze affirmations by radionics, I always take a look on their opposite meaning. As example, "I am successful and beautiful". Behind that, the conscious or unconscious opinion may hide that I am not attractive, will not be successful anyway.

To work with affirmations, it does not need radionics. But radionics can promote this process enormously. I do not have to remind myself several times a day of reciting the affirmations in my mind's eye. The affirmations can be decreased by the influences that surround us. If we take the aforementioned affirmation as an example and speak it several times a day in our mind's eye, it can be that we do it in a situation when we just have experienced our success was brought down. So the affirmation will only half-hearted be taken in our subconscious. If we transferred this task to radionics, however, it will not affect negatively since our consciousness knows very well that the radionics took over this duty, even though it did not work recently.

Re-analysis

For some reason we are the only producers that have integrated a re-analysis into their system. Many producers profile their selves – from the commercial point of view it is comprehensible – with things that are a matter of course to us. Anyway, everyone keeps an eagle eye on the others to see what the news is and always be the first or to rebuild it.

But why does no-one integrate a re-analysis in their system? Our clients love this function. For every still running or yet ended tuning-in can run the analysis again. We receive a direct feedback on which entries are still relevant.

Sometimes I do not let the tuning-in entries be analyzed but assign them manually. Depending on the clinical examination I choose the relevant things. An example: Patient with knee pain. After the physical examination, I search in radionics for entries like meniscus damage, articular effusion and all other things that the physical findings provided. For example, I have collected about 10 entries. Now I define the amount of analyse entries to 10 and exercise a re-analysis. If I did well, all 10 entries showed a resonance. If not, I did not find the cause somatically and go on with the searching by radionics.

In my start time as a natural healer – yet without radionics – I had a patient. "How are you?", "Bad." "Did something improve?" "No."

This happened several times and I thought to myself that something was wrong. When the case happened once more, I took the file and went through everything: "What about the stomach ache?" "It's gone." "And the headache?" "Also gone." "Knee pain?" "Still got them!" "At the beginning of our treatment, it was 100%. Where are we now, concerning the knee pain?" "70%."

Patients can have discomforts for years. If they are only gone for some days, it is completely deleted from their mind. The body focuses on the remaining discomforts. The patients simply are not aware of their discomforts anymore!

Also for this reason, the re-analysis is so precious. For the already harmonized steps of tuning-ins are listed firstly in the print, after that the remaining ones. So the patient can become conscious of what is already achieved.

Bio-energetic analysis

The bio-energetic analysis is unique and has already been developed and used by me before the development of my radionics-system.

Very soon after my establishment as a natural healer, I "accidentally" found a laboratory that produced an IgG-Screening from venous blood.

Wikipedia (2011): "IgG antibodies are involved in predominantly the secondary immune response (the main antibody involved in primary response is IgM). The presence of specific IgG, in general, corresponds to maturation of the antibody response. (...)

IgG can bind to many kinds of pathogens, for example viruses, bacteria, and fungi, and protects the body against them by agglutination and immobilization, complement activation (classical pathway), opsonization for phagocytosis, and neutralization of their toxins. (...)

IgG is also associated with Type II and Type III Hypersensitivity."

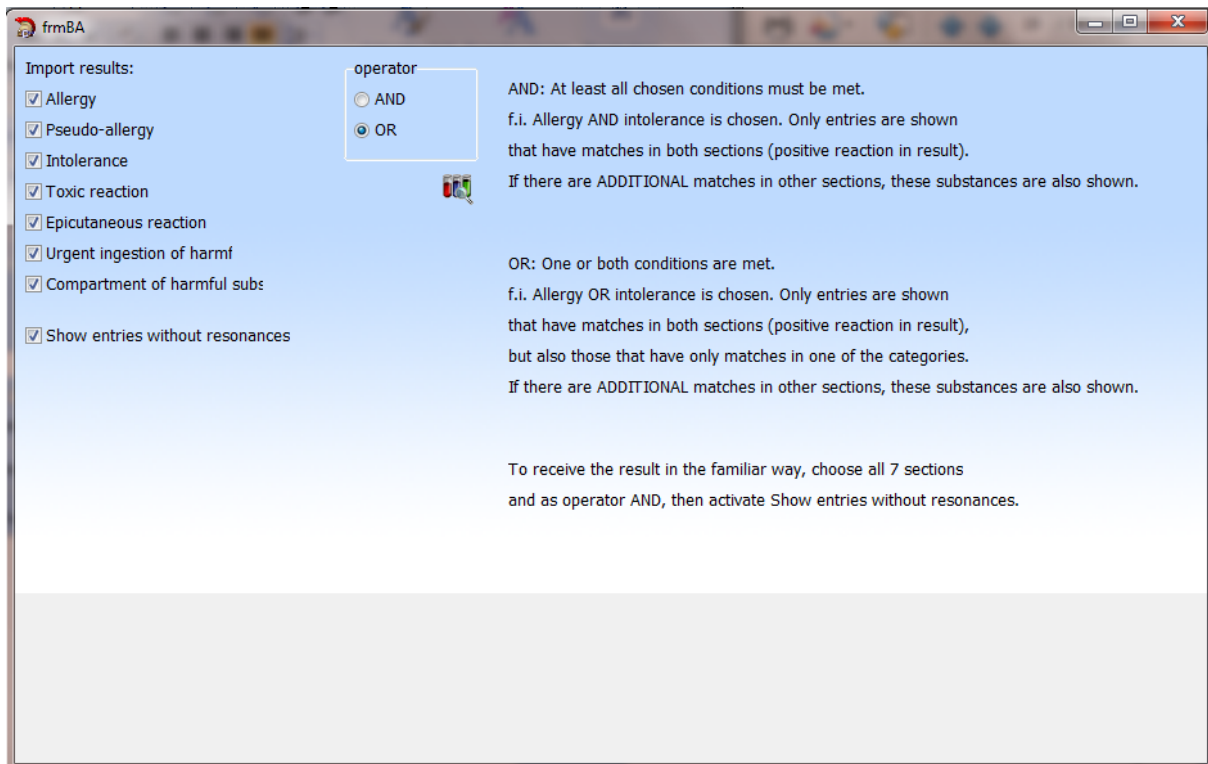

This test was very expensive for the patients, but it was worth it. The tested food is classified by an intensity level of intolerance and these food products are then left out for a defined time period. Most of the patients used it for the aim of weight loss. But it was even more exciting to me, that the patients reported after a short time that skin problems e.g. had bettered, headache was gone, rheumatic discomforts disappeared and a lot more. Lots of positive changes in a common medical view had shown. That was reason for me to continue my research and develop a comprehensive analysis that became from there on standard method for new patients.

In the GSD-radionics, we provide a comprehensive analysis data on it (659 entries). These can individually be extended by you!

Also, you can analyse existing data bases (food products, pollutants e.g.).

Every entry is tested in 7 sections on resonance (allergy, pseudo allergy, intolerance, toxic reaction, epicutaneous reaction, urgent ingestions of harmful substances, compartment of harmful substances).

That makes a total of 4.613 single tests in the analysis!

Ill. 7: Screenshot from bioenergetic analysis, possible choices

(Grafik einfügen: Screenshots Druckansicht englisch → Datenbanken fehlen!)

Allergy: Resonance on allergy. It happens continually that patients show an allergy disposition on substances / food products. It has not always manifested physically yet. Nevertheless, the body already reacts with a defense against it.

Pseudo allergy: They arise dependently on the taken dose of an allergenic substance that can be contained in food. Also a lacking enzyme can therefore be the reason. It comes to allergy-similar symptoms.

Intolerance: An important examination. For intolerances express differently with every person. Partly it comes to tiredness, joint aches, migraine, intestinal discomforts and many more. There is no classification how intolerance individually shows up. Besides, it can sometimes take up to 72 hours after food intake until intolerances appear which makes it even more difficult to identify them.

Toxic reaction: If the body reacts on a substance that is taken in orally or by inhalation, a whole lot of immunological processes start. Thereby these substances are partly eliminated, but cannot be removed completely from the body with an impaired metabolism or excretion disorder. Toxic reactions thus can be caused. It does not lead to a toxication in the classical meaning but potencies the mentioned discomforts of the according organ systems.

Epicutaneous reaction: If the analysis to a substance / food product is positive in this area, it has negative effects on your skin.

Compartment of harmful substances: An example on it would be amalgam. The processes mentioned under "toxic reaction" have been active for a long time so that the body accumulated these pollutants. This storage can be manifested in the joints e.g., whereby it comes to according discomforts even though no calcification is detectable and also the rheumatic blood values do not show a pathological finding. In conventional medical view healthy.

Urgent ingestions of harmful substances: You have recently come into contact with this substance / food product. Processes as described under "toxic reaction" and "compartment of harmful substances" start.

Summarizing it can be said that this analysis is pointing the way for further therapy. We have worked for some years on this form of analysis, and it paid off in everyday practice work of many colleagues. You cannot classify at which point the described processes will manifest. Especially in the field of weight loss but also with all other metabolism disorder this analysis is the decisive step towards further therapy.

You have the possibility of selecting single testing sections. For example you can let only entries be analyzed that react on intolerance and epicutaneous reaction.

Some nice examples from practice: A patient came to me with skin problems. I analyzed it and found an asbestos strain was found. Thereupon the patient taped all pieces of furniture over with a tape strip and also put one on a lamp in every room. After a further analysis, the strip with room air from the living room and the chimney were positive. An expert examined the chimney which was indeed built with asbestos. The problems have consequently disappeared after the chimney was exchanged.

Likewise with another patient with multiple problems with whom it turned out she had a formaldehyde strain.

Once I had a dentist with me. In this analysis of all things it turned out an amalgam strain. It is seldom I am tempted to simply click fastly away an entry, here I considered to do so. But I let it go and it turned out that the dentist was aware of it – in the past she had taken the amalgam with bare hands from the pot and formed it with her fingers.

Another time the trigger was Malaria prophylaxis. Malaria ok, but Malaria prophylaxis? The patient explained that she had been treated with highly dosed Malaria medication for 3 years because of rheumatic disorders.

Again it is: Location of cause <-> location of disease!

Graphics

I have integrated some graphics into the system, inter alia a reference test. It is better understandable for the patients resp. "tangible" if they can see a graphic.

We will not fool anybody, but seriously – with the graphics you can only win. For example, a patient has stomach problems. But the analysis does not show any resonance to the stomach. Maybe there would be one, but at a position that lies out of the range of our analysed amount of entries. She will surely ask about that. With the organ test, we search the stomach and do a graphic analysis. Now two things can happen: The stomach will be shown red, patient says, "Told you so". Ok, she is right, the stomach is strained. But there are things that are superior to the stomach, after which harmonization the stomach problem may possibly even be remedied. Or the stomach is green. Then you can exercise your analysis and maybe the spine is strained which again can be the location of cause. You see that everything is about the topic location of cause <-> location of discomfort.

From energetic view, this kind of analysis is very profound and precious. For we receive this way a complete picture of the whole and moreover an energetic classification.

(Grafik: screenshot Organe)

Undercharging, lack:

Yet in normal region, but already beginning undersupply.

Already disturbed, but still tolerable.

Functional restrictions, requiring therapy.

Overcharging, energy blockage:

Yet in normal region, but already beginning oversupply.

Already disturbed, but still tolerable.

Functional restrictions, requiring therapy.

(Grafik: Screenshot Chakren/Meridiane)

General, frequently asked questions:

Do I have to be religious to work with radionics?

No. It does not matter for radionics if you believe in God or other persons. Some define the energies as divine, others as universal. I found a definition for myself, too.

But just try something. Take a comfortable position – sitting or lying. Palms up. Then say to yourself, "God into my hands" and look what happens. Then "Jesus into my hands" etc. Just try out a few things and feel the changes.

This does not have to do with radionics as such, but with general energetic things.

Sahim, Mandy Patinkin, John Lennon, Dalai Lama, Mahatma Ghandi, Mother Theresa.

Just some names I could mention. And most of them you all know. Feel which energies the different names work on you. If you look at "Give peace a chance" from John Lennon and which positive effect this song has still today on people, how it connects them, you can make the energy nearly visible.

Does the PC have to be switched on for a tuning-in?

The statement is clear – no. We have been the first to transform this into a radionic-system. The information that we tune in are conditioned in "one go" for all single appointments and single times. Then the PC can be switched off. We have delivered the information to the morphogenetic field. I like to compare this to Reiki, for many people know it. I am Reiki-master and teacher myself. With the 2nd degree of Reiki you are able to exercise a treatment as distant healing. If you want to give a lecture tonight at 7pm and it is now in the morning, I can program for you on tonight at 7pm one hour with Reiki. It is a time exposure of not even 5min for me. I can immediately forget it again at the same time. It does not matter either if I am lying in my bed at the same time, in the bath tub or working. The energetic field takes over the rest. This way, it is with our system. Why others do not handle it like that, I cannot say. I can guarantee that something physical happens during the tuning-in. Other systems I cannot evaluate in this regard. Of course, it requires more discussion and direct confrontation with the client if you handle it the way I do with my system.

There are entries that belong to the other gender

This is also a topic that we face. Other providers classify in male and female and therefore have no need to confront with the client. There are different approaches to it:

Translation, mirroring, early childhood, karma

Translation: Sometimes you simply have to translate entries to the other gender and check if there are clues that can be found on it.

Mirroring: It happens often, that patients mirror the discomforts of their partner. We know it very well from animals. For example, a horse as well as its owner has problems with their knee. If either the horse or the human is accordingly treated, the discomforts also disappear from the other. If the partner is ill, the other is strongly emotionally bound to it and therefore strained. Some do not rest in themselves anymore because they can only think about the other's topics. So might also discomforts be mirrored in radionic analyses.

Early childhood: If a parent desperately wished for a girl but then a boy is born, such emotional entanglements can be retrieved in the analyses.

Karma: The patient is actually strained with karmic things that he needs to work on.

Why do I need symbols?

Many energy systems work with symbols. For example, Sanjeevini cards. I have several times put Sanjeevini cards directly on the patients' bodies – with pyelonephritis (pyelitis) e.g. The according area got extremely hot, the pain disappeared immediately after that for some time, then came back in a tolerable intensity. We have then repeated the treatment. The conventional therapy ran parallel; with a pyelonephritis, I always assign the patients to the doctor for antibiotic therapy, but accompany the treatment.

Symbols can have even a deeper effect than the written word, because the way an effect works is based upon word and symbol, sometimes even only the symbol.

We have integrated a lot of symbol systems into our system; I do not even know every single one myself. But who works with the according systems will retrieve them; those who encounter it in a different way can inform about it in the internet and therefore might find an access to completely new treatment methods.

If you are working with an USB-stick and therefore at another PC that has not installed the symbol pictures, you can still tune in with the word rates. But it is better and deeper with the symbols.

I have ideas or improvements for my way of work with the radionics.

We are always open for your ideas that make your working process better or faster.

If suggestions make sense, I usually implement them at the same day. I only rejected a case once, for it had a trend to manipulation of others.

We also integrate new data bases cost-freely. So if you would like to have things realized, just ask us.

There is only one thing I would like to note: There is no we. To identify with a system is right, good and important. But neither a legal claim nor the possibility of participating in further developments results from the realization of your idea. You would not believe wherewith we are confronted. Our nice and uncomplicated way in dealing with customers has its limits.

Data bases and general service

New data bases are cost-free. You have also the opportunity of changing and editing own data bases. We keep the system completely open and so you can also exchange data bases with other users cost-freely.

Nearly all data bases have been created by Eva and Heinz Strasser. Mr. Strasser is working with radionics for 20 years. Before his entrance into the work with GSD-Radionics, he had worked with another system and therefore also allocated data bases. All of his data bases from this time and the current resp. coming ones are protected by copyright, which is owned by the GSD-Radionik. We authorize it for use, with the permission to free changing and sharing with GSD-Radionik users.

Concerning the service: Every client is served by us via telephone or email resp. in the forum. This is also cost-free. We are a reliable company with qualified staff. After purchasing is before purchasing is our name of the game. Also, it does not matter to us if our system is bought. We very much like to welcome every new client, but we will tell you honestly if you would do better with system X. Besides, it might happen that we do not sell a system. Our kind of service did work out positively.

Well, why does it work?

As written before, the information of the tuning-in is transmitted into the morphogenetic field of the patient. It then "takes" what and how much it needs.

Skeptics will counter, that it is "only" a placebo. Well, fine – if it only works! I know myself, that something – at least with us – is really taking place. I mean, we really send information. It was also one of the reasons why I developed the aura-system – to make radionic processes visible. But also with other methods like the Dark field microscopy e.g., radionic tuning-ins can be made comprehensibly visible.

Do I recognize the tuning-in?

This is a frequently asked question. If patients ask so, I usually do not reply. Otherwise I suggested an effect that would surely appear a lot.

It is different – some do not recognize anything, others feel tingling, warmth, energy flux or simply wake up if the tuning-in was set as a night appointment. The more energetic experience one has, the more he will recognize.

There are therapists that work with an alarm, for example. The patient carries it along and at the set time it peeps or vibrates. The patient knows that the tuning-in does now start. From the neuropsychological view, the brain will already get used to this time after 2 days. The body is conditioned to it and the information of the near beginning will automatically reach the consciousness at the according – same-staying - time of day. It is reasonable to me, if therapists use it to remind the patients, but from the commercial point of view, because nobody can say if the patient will feel something. Since the patient might with radionic transmission not see or talk to his therapist at all for 4 weeks, he will at least be reminded this way what he is spending his money on. I do not mean it negatively, hence the patient is conditioned to his healing and this is positive.

Can I take an older picture?

Yes, because the morphogenetic field does not know age.

We are working at completely new methods in the field of biometric bioenergy field analyses that will partly be combined with neurophysical/neuropsychological methods. Our development is based upon methods that do not need any measuring instruments! Here for, you will need an actual photo. For the "classic" radionics, it is not necessary.

How do I proceed best? With or without a topic?

A good question that cannot be answered sweepingly.

For one thing, you can exercise automatic analyses with two clicks and with these entries go into tuning-in. Parallel; you search symptomatically for all entries, that fit on the patient's symptoms (cough e.g.).

We repeatedly talk about cause analysis. Accordingly, you have to watch out not to bank too much on the symptomatology and your own intellect. If I choose among an amount of data bases those that fit best in my opinion, I already commit myself to a way. It is better in this case to take a look first on the trigger-test, to see which resonances the patient shows. With that I can plan the further selection of data bases. If in the trigger-test "toxic substances" are shown in the first place and further below "paints and coatings", I can take care of the purification from these substances on the one hand, but on the other hand also manage the detoxification of the patient (liver, kidneys, lymphatic system, intestines).

As a rule, about 150 data bases crystallize for a user, that are partly assembled to categories. It makes sense because you also have to convey these contents.

There is the possibility to enter a topic and then exercise analyses. For example: Selection is homeopathic agents and as topic knee ache. The analysis will involve this topic into the resonance measuring. I also do this from time to time, but rather seldom, since without a topic, the radionics will find out autonomously which entries are fitting. And according to the principle of "location of cause <-> location of discomfort", the equivalent agent will be found, even if the relation will not be obvious to us at first. If we take a look at the TCM, the bladder has a connection to the lung. So an agent for the lung could be used for a cough treatment.

Well if it is that great, why do not all therapists and even medics use this device for analysis supply or as a diagnostic procedure?

More and more doctors are using this system. It also finds its way into psychologists' work. But the best way to find out is to ask themselves. There will be answers like:

Placebo.

Can you touch it?

Blood values are quantitative measurable, I am not able to make use of resonances.

Is it clinically provable?

Hocus pocus.

I could as well look into a crystal ball.

And so on. In former times, studies included the teaching of pathophysiology (recognition of diseases and disease symptoms from the face). It does not exist anymore.

Radionics is no panacea. We need the conventional medicine, there cannot be any discussion about it. Nevertheless, there are also medical terms as "essential hypertension", "vegetative dystonia", "idiopathic hip-necrosis". It does not mean anything than "We do not know the reason". And if nothing else can help, it is a NVL-syndrome.

At these points the radionics could give a precious support. But the therapist has to be opened to it, otherwise he cannot hold the view towards the patient and he will not accept this form of diagnosis / treatment. There are studies which show that antibiotics have a 50% less effect on patients who strive against their intake. Cooperation is therefore necessary from both sides.

You cannot see from a mobile transmitting mast if and how much radiation is sent. But the mobile phone you can touch and your conversational partner also – hear, is to say.

In countries like England, (energetic) healers are successfully working together with medics in hospitals and surgeries. If you understand the unity of body-mind-soul and that there are things you cannot touch, you have the conditions to work with radionics and accept this information as impulses.

There are also some patients who do not know what to do with tensors. A patient who came to me for a spine therapy, saw my tensors. Not that I planned to work with them, they were only lying on my desk. His case was classic – displaced vertebra, lie down, solve blockages and go home after mobilization. But he was gone before, because he thought he was wrong at my place, if I worked with such things (tensors). Well, good luck, next one please.

Some patients need an injection, others a pill. Simply something to touch. I have to admit that it is difficult to perform a clinical research for radionics that serve standards of clinical studies on medicine. There are producers who are exploring it and working together with prestigious university clinics. If such a producer will succeed in making these studies officially approved, then it will be the only radionic system that will be sold on the market. It would be accredited as a medicinal product and all other producers would not be allowed anymore to distribute their systems. From my view it would be okay, because radionics is a system that cannot do any harm and my thinking goes always in direction of the patients. But since homeopathy did not get the recognition that it deserved either, it will not succeed in radionics.

Can I dissolve, cure something that is in the family (disposition for gout, rheuma, genetic defect, lacking enzyme,...) with radionics?

Yes and no. Besides, we speak here of different things. A lacking enzyme is not hereditary and has its cause – lacking intake or metabolism, disturbed cellular utilization etc. You can do something about that. It can be made very clear with Biochemic cell salts (Schüssler). If a patient has a prescription over No. 7, Magnesium phosphate, it is no substitution of magnesium (you could therefore buy magnesium tablets at the supermarket). This is about cell regeneration that restore the cellular absorption or utilization of magnesium. We have enough intake of magnesium over nutrition, but if the cell cannot use it anymore, it causes discomforts. Key and lock do not fit together anymore.

Gout is the same topic. Besides of avoiding purine generation by changes of dietary and lifestyle habits, you can do very good work with radionics on it.

If the family shows an increased amount of heart strokes or attacks, radionics can do a precious support. For example in the field of early prevention (recognition of disorders before they manifest), reducing or elimination of stress factors, supporting of blood flow etc.

At genetic defects, it is not possible. Radionics cannot take away the third chromosome from a patient who is sick of trisomy 21. The patient has to go on living with his limitation (for me there is no disability, I always talk about limitations). But we can well improve his life conditions. Reduce psychic stress, activate physical processes and many more.

How long do I need to be tuned-in if the disease already exists for years?

In natural healing, we generally have the following rule of thumb: One month of treatment per one year of discomfort. But radionics unifies all sections of a therapy, searches for causing factors in all fields. So the duration of treatment is usually significant shorter than the rule declares. However, chronic diseases should take up to 6 months.

Side effects / Initial aggravations?

Normally none. If an initial aggravation appears, the duration of tuning-in can be reduced. What happens sometimes is that patients get tired. It is mostly the case when many things are tuned-in and a permanent tuning-in of 4-6 hours is exercised at one day.

Tuning-in of a house, does everybody have to be aware? And agree?

Yes. Even though the morphogenetic field does not accept anything it does not want, the own duty of care and self-responsibility is an attitude that does not have to be discussed. We will not impose anything on anybody.

Do I have to understand it in order to make it work?

No, you only have to be receptive and not balk at it. That is sufficient. Just let things go.

How do I find out how many days I should tune in?

There are different opinions / experiences of users. Some examples:

Generally 3 weeks, once a day and every entry only between 3 seconds and one minute.

Acute discomforts several times a day (also in an hour rhythm), after that every second day.

Every second day.

A colleague and also producer of a radionic system is Mr. Romanazzi (www.radionik.info). He said to me in a talk that he tunes in an information only once because the morphogenetic field works with this information and changes after that. So after that a complete new check has to be done and a new tuning-in created. Mr. Romanazzi is trained in many fields and has a lot of energetic experience. He works with the original principle of radionics as it is taught in England. I cannot agree with him but neither contradict.

Nevertheless, I took the discussion as occasion to program an add-on that I had planned long before – the control of tuning-in. It re-evaluates all appointed tuning-ins in re-analysis. The result is, that we usually time the tuning-ins longer than necessary. But after one day, they are mostly not done.

I think this has to do with the consciousness of a radionic-system developer. If I condition myself at the creation only to tune in once, it may well be that this is sufficient.

To answer the question concretely: You either use the control of tuning-in and create a time schedule for 3 weeks or use a data base for analysis – the so called potency analysis. However, most of the users are working by intuition resp. a well-practised system.

Which amount do I set for analysis?

In my system, I created the possibility for editing the wanted amount of analysis entries. It can happen that you enter 10 but only 6 results are shown. Then no more results showed a resonance. The results are then listed according to their emphasis – the most important is in the first place.

I usually work with an amount of 3-5 entries. Sometimes also with 9, but mostly it is 3-5. There are data bases like "Bovis test persons" e.g. where only one entry is analysed.

If I work with a data base with lots of entries (over 300), I set a higher amount (ca. 30) and work after that with the re-analysis. At even bigger data bases it is a bigger number. There are data bases that include 2000 entries. The display of results mirrors the weighting. I compare it to %-values. If I only analyse 5 results from 2000, it might be very well that 300 are weighted with 100%. But I only let 5 be shown.

But this is a special case.

In how far can I substitute agents that show a resonance in radionics?

At this question, it must be differentiated if it means that an agent is recommended for oral intake or if it means that radionics can take over this substitution.

In the first case: Lay people principally not! Legally, only medics / natural healers are not lay. So I have to require hereby medicinal knowledge. For if you are shown potassium for a patient and recommend according agents, it may take a bad end. Especially if he is a patient with a heart disease. There can also be interactions with other medication. If we have analysed a lack, I let it clinically be determined and take blood from the patient. After that, I decide whether I prescribe something or work with radionics.

For the second case you also have to differentiate. A material substitution does not take place, but the metabolism will be induced in a form that the natural process that is recently disturbed can get back to its physiological form. Personally, I think nothing of dietary supplement, because nature has arranged everything the way that human is supplied with everything necessary. If a disorder in absorption or utilization is given, a symptomatic treatment does not help. On the contrary. However, with radionics we can have a positive effect on the organism so it can take up its normal processes again.

Homeopathic potencies

I have integrated a potency analysis into my system. It can use text data resp. other data bases on all entries for resonance testing. For example Bach flower remedy. It analyses firstly Bach flower remedy and with the results then colours that show a resonance on the according result. As a treatment, it results Impatience Yellow e.g.

I just had a conversation with a homeopathic. She is already working with radionics for a long time, also with a PC-based system, but now wants to change to another system. I said that I do not prescribe the results of a homeopathic potency analysis, for example, if the result "Rhus toxicodendron" is shown and after the potency analysis then "Rhus toxicodendron C3000". This is a deeply psychic reach of efficacy. Yet, I would not write a prescription to it and let the patient take it in orally but I adjust it with radionics. She said this was wrong. It could be directly prescribed. She would always do it this way and never had negative experiences.

I cannot assess it because as I said, I handle it in a different way. With the information transmission into the morphogenetic field, at last the patient's organism chooses what and how much of it to accept. If I administer it orally, it does not have this choice anymore.

Substance production

You can transmit every information of a radionic system on any object carrier. An object carrier can be a stone, globuli, water, a t-shirt, a watch or anything else. A colleague for example very successfully tunes in insoles. You can also transmit the information of medication this way. Of course, it does not replace a conventional medication. It would never come to my mind to produce medication for a diabetic with radionics.

For children I like to transmit the information – Bach flower remedy e.g. – to a stone. They can carry it with them in their pocket this way and the morphogenetic field takes what it needs. A colleague tunes in watches hence patients always carry it with them.

Skeptics might say, one could simply transmit all information of a radionic system (in ours, it is nearly 500.000 single entries) on such an object and he is forever healthy.

Try it out, I have no idea if it works.

At this moment, I am asking myself why I have never tried that. I think you cannot flood the morphogenetic field, you have to work purposefully.

How long does alcoholic water keep the information of tuning-in?

All information carriers keep the tuned-in information eternally.

And does the container have to be neutralized before creating new agents?

I do this.

Is it possible to prove how much a person reacts on the tuning-in?

Predict no. I cannot see it in anybody if he is going to react well or badly, fastly or slowly on a radionic treatment.

Prove – in form of our Aura-system for example.

But the best prove is the patient himself. He recognizes the best how he reacts on it and in which time it happens. In radionics, it is always stunning how fast a reaction appears. An user told that his children were coughing. He tuned them in and after 15 minutes, the cough was gone. My daughter sometimes calls me in my surgery and asks me to send her something. I then tune her in against her pain, sting or whatever happened.

Of course something can be commented here. In psychology, we call it self-fulfilling prophecy. If my daughter calls and asks me to send something, she knows that it will happen immediately. And that she will be helped. So the discomforts disappear. But there have been cases when I did not tune in. And then there have been no effects resp. only a retarded disappearance of the discomforts could be recognized.

But in the client's example, the children had no idea of the tuning-in because they were so little, they could not have been able to understand what was happening.

But a computer can do all these things?

With a computer, we connect internet, e-mail, online banking, travelling and so on.

But take a look at a bioresonance device. A case, diodes, a display with text and different controls to set. If you unscrew it, you will find a board and other components. Just like in a computer.

What if no changing of the state can be worked out? Can I see that?

Then either the cause could not be verified exactly yet or the patient is currently not able to let a changing happen.

There are cases when patients want to keep all or parts of their discomforts. They are not always directly aware of that. Or they are not able to admit changes or feelings that require accomplishment.

Also things from the surrounding can disable a recovery.

If such cases appear, I like to tune in with "thought stop". Because often the thoughts are turning in a circle, like a record that is stuck. The patients have been ill for so long, so many have attempted in vain and so on.

And sometimes the time has simply not yet come to aim a changing. The patients have to live through it a little longer.

However, I am always careful if I have patients that are unsatisfied with all the many treators before, and that after the first appointments speak highly from me. It changes so suddenly. That is because I - just like nearly every colleague before - will get to the core point. And then it gets uncomfortable. Even if they are conscient of it, most of them do not admit it. So what lies nearer than to delegate responsibility to somebody else. Ok, I will be brought into the line of stupid ones and the next can try his luck.

Which time of day is the best for a tuning-in of psychic fields?

I cannot say. I would analyse individually. In such cases, I take a look at the way how the discomforts appear. If a child has problems at school I tune in before school and in the morning resp. at bedtime. An older patient came to me with heart problems. It was cardiologically and internistically clarified, without pathological result. Always at 8pm, the problems appeared. Heart racing, trepidation. Diagnosis: Cor nervosum. There are hormonal processes in the body that appear increasingly at certain times and can cause discomforts. But all this had not been the case in here. It figured out that the patient used to watch the news at this time and after that went to bed. But at the same time she always became aware of having spent the day alone. Her husband had died long before and she suffered from social isolation. Of course I tune in directly at that time in this case.

I have no other experiences. If colleagues work with phases of the moon or astrology, they have other data.

How often can I repeat a tuning-in at one day?

Every day, up to 14 tuning-ins can be fixed in appointments. If that is not enough, a second tuning-in can be created. So practically it is unlimited. There remains only the question for the spirit and purpose.

How long then?

This is also different. If I treat acute psychic discomforts, it can very well be 3 times a day for one hour. Is it an acute happening, for example an acute fracture, I create a tuning-in that requires per appointed tuning-in about 5-10 minutes. I then repeat those hourly.

How many patients can I add to fixed date tuning-ins?

Unlimited.

Especially with chronic or acute pain, how long and often?

I can only recite a rule of thumb from my experience:

Chronical: Once a day for 1 hour maximum over 3 months.

Acute: 3-10 times a day for 1 hours (at 3x) or 10 minutes (at several appointments).

With how many entries can I tune in?

Theoretically unlimited. I integrated a limit, but I do not know where it is at this moment. Until now, nobody has reached it yet. It is also different here with the users. Some tune in with sometimes over 100 or 200 entries. I do not (except for the "bioenergetic analysis"). I try to keep a lid on two things: the single tuning-in should not take longer than 1-1,5 hours and a single tuning-in of max. ca. 50 entries should not be exceeded.

If I have lots of entries I divide the somatic from the psyche. Depending on the discomforts and results of the therapeutic talk, I often start with the psyche, for ca. 2 weeks and then have a look and the remaining things on somatic side to create a new whole tuning-in.

Should babies, children, adults and older people be tuned-in with different intensities?

Babies and children do very often only need few impulses. I work with 3 seconds per entry once a day.

Adults and older people do not make a difference as it can be seen from the former paragraphs.

Hands-on radionics

Radionics is a method for energy field analysis and balancing of human, animals and plants. It is a method that works holistically and unifies all aspects of bioenergetic interaction and finding of true causes. Radionics is based on modern neurophysiological knowledge and the fundamentals of quantum physics.

How can radionics be made touchable? Therefore one has to draw on the principle of bioresonance. Bioresonance works with oscillations. Every matter oscillates energetically. Those who work with a pendulum or the tensor knows such methods very well. We hold a food product in our hand and if the tensor moves horizontal it is good for us; if it swings up and down, it has a negative energetic effect on us and we should leave it out. Devices from the field of bioresonance work with these informed oscillations that are brought to the body by hand-electrodes or a mat which is plugged in the device. Like pearls on a lace that are entangled, they array again in rank and file. The oscillation information that was brought to the body by food e.g. is not interpreted as negative anymore. The hereby triggered symptoms disappear, the allergy is 'deleted'.

Radionics is a further development of bioresonance. The treatment (with radionics, we call it 'tuning in' or BEWELLUNG) is also administered by hand-electrodes. The required oscillations are generated by the computer, modulated and transferred at the subtle level on the recipient.

The computer works here for as a tool. Also a bioresonance-device has a computer integrated, but a radionics system has the special advantage that the patient is able to track vividly what is just being tuned-in.

You can follow directly on the screen the single steps and simultaneously see pictures of the tuned-in substances.

To illustrate the process, we take a mobile base station for comparing. The radiation of those always surrounds us. The base stations serve as distributors and amplifiers of the signals. However, you cannot find any changes on a base station. You cannot tell if it is transmitting or not, it always looks the same. The radiation surrounds us, but it is not tangible, and still many people do not feel well in close vicinity of a base station. The other (more sympathetic) example is the aura. You know the feeling of not wanting to come too close to the one or another person. With others, however, it does not cause any discomfort even though the other person is nearly touching us. The aura-energyfield that is surrounding us, fits.

It is not facts that make us doubt but what our thoughts make out of it.

Every energetically practising person has to do with it. Water veins are being located with a rod, energetic disorder can be felt through hands and with Reiki you can also treat another person even though he or she may be far away at the moment.

A further part of radionics contains the analysis. A radionics system can exercise such an analysis "itself". Thereby entries are also modulated into sound oscillations. These are brought into resonance with the sound oscillations of the person that is analysed. If there are matches - that can be compared with a tensor or a pendulum swing - a result was found. Depending on the initial question, a required medication or incompatible food e.g. was found.

Especially in the medical sector the analysis is a great benefit. When a patient describes his discomfort, different paradigms take place in his mind, that relate to possible diseases on the one hand and on the other hand to similar cases. However, we are cut down in the point of view respective just as good as education and practical experience can reach.

If the doctor cannot find a reason for a patient's stomach pain because they were caused by a stomach bacterium, a satisfying result cannot be achieved. Radionics can build a bridge right here, because it can be found out in an analysis. Bridging this gap, radionic analysis enables an intensive, real and well-founded overview of the entirety of BODY - MIND - SOUL.

There are only very few persons that I admire. But this is a personal attitude because I think otherwise I would put them on a pedestal and have no faith in myself to achieve the same things. I was just allowed to enter into my daughter's friendship-book. One question was what marks me out. I wrote, "lacking respect of new tasks". Take a look at the "Last Lecture" of Randy Pausch. He describes very well how he managed difficulties and that difficulties can only be faced with more work. My daughter coined the sentence, "nicht verzweifeln – weiter meiffeln", which is in English about „Don't despair – continuair“.

What fascinates me are people who simply enjoy what they are doing and also radiate this.

I have had repeatedly patients who did not feel comfortable with their work surrounding. But because of social circumstances they were not able to change something about it. Most time of the day is spent at work. And there is a forced community because colleagues to work with cannot be selected. I always make sure that employees fight together, only this way it can be a team.

Who works with radionics knows that a negative process can be broken. It simply has to be dared. You have to trust yourself ("The Secret").

I do what makes me happy. And if I am at one day not happy, I stay at home. And if a thing permanently does not make me happy, I give it up. Even if at first it might be evaluated as a completely wrong decision from the financial view (from others – but if somebody else thinks “You should” or “you should not”, he is moving in my thoughts, and there he has no place in), yet I give it up. Some years ago, I took a new job. It was a well-paid job directly in the upper management. But the trip to work was too long for me. Moreover, I would have had to argue continuously with another department and sometimes had to use brute force to say and show the direction. No problem for me, but why should I do so? There are better ways. The simple thought of this trip with permanent traffic was the untouched king of the castle, made no positive picture for me. This is how energies are blocked. So I gave it up and went into an insecure future. But I had retrieved my inner satisfaction.

I neither want nor need to create an advertising slogan for radionics. But you can retrieve your inner balance with it. Not without reason, many colleagues do not speak of tuning-in but balancing.

To give up something does also mean to be open-minded for something new. I admire my daughter every day. The easiness she is starting the day with. No circling thoughts about anything. Why is that possible with children? Because they have not made any negative experiences yet they could be afraid of. If their stomach aches, it is simply aching. And it will be going away. What would my reaction be – in my mind, I would rattle off the whole differential diagnosis for abdominal pain. But principally, I see one thing: the sense of basic trust in us parents. Where is your sense of basic trust? Some draw it from religion, others devote to the universe’s supplement. We are being provided for, we “simply” have to push aside the negative thoughts. It can be learnt.

I have asked people some time ago what they would wish if they had one wish free. No matter which. For me, there has been only one answer and I was surprised what others reported. You can define it for yourself, which wish it would be for you.

Radionics can hereby support us.

I think it does not have to be differentiated in energetic work on which level somebody is working. I have a lot of experience, but I can as well learn something from somebody who has just started to occupy himself with energetic. Some small impulse that helps me and my work on.

Also, I do not think anything from standardized processes. Let your feelings work for you. I am Reiki-teacher and Reiki-students need a standardized process at the beginning of their “Reiki-career”. They do get it. But what should be wrong about having the feeling not wanting to go to position 3 after the 2 but rather elsewhere? Nothing, so just do it. Or with Dorn therapy. Of course, principally the whole program belongs to it. So firstly correcting the leg lengths, then the pelvis and then the single vertebrae. But it might as well be, that one day you have the impulse rather only to mobilize the leg lengths and the IS-joint and after that exercise a foot reflexology for muscular relaxation. Then just do it. I have learnt lots of methods and taken of it what was harmonious to me. And then combined. From this point, with radionics I have developed exactly the kind of instrument which allows me to apply ideally my way of proceeding. And then, as a second step, there were the other therapists who can use it in the same way. That is why I can wholeheartedly be behind the system and may also insist not to place it at somebody's disposal.

Dare to diverge from the norm. If it happens out of the inner impulse and no own interests are pursued, it can only succeed.

Finally, some impulses that find a use with us:

The really big ones work on the QT.

We cannot copy anything that others do not have anyway.

We do not discuss the if, only the how.

diolib (intern)

aav (intern)

Sources:

Ill.1:

Ill.2: <http://www.inspir8ional.com/The-Physical-Body.html>, 06/2011

Ill.3: <http://homeopathytyler.wordpress.com/2010/04/>, 06/2011

Ill.4: <http://www.dornmethod.co.uk/Images/Misc/SpinalTherapySmall.jpg>, 06/2011

Ill.5:

Ill.6: